2011 ANNUAL REPORT

Mission Statement

It shall be the mission of the Frederick County Sheriff's Office to provide fair, unbiased law enforcement services to the public, while respecting the individual's constitutional rights.

Code of Ethics

“As a law enforcement officer, my fundamental duty is to serve mankind; to safeguard lives and property; to protect the innocent against deception, the weak against oppression or intimidation, and the peaceful against violence or disorder; and to respect the constitutional rights of all men to liberty, equality, and justice.

I will keep my private life unsullied as an example to all; maintain courageous calm in the face of danger, scorn or ridicule; develop self-restraint; and be constantly mindful of the welfare of others. Honest in thought and deed in both my personal and official life, I will be exemplary in obeying the law of the land and the regulations of my Office. Whatever I see or hear of a confidential nature that is confided to me in my official capacity will be kept ever secret, unless revelation is necessary in the performance of duty.

I will never act officiously or permit personal feelings, prejudice, animosities, or friendships to influence my decisions with no compromise for crime and with relentless prosecution of criminals. I will enforce the law courteously and appropriately without fear or favor, malice, or ill will, never employing unnecessary force or violence and never accepting gratuities.

I recognize the badge of my office as a symbol of public faith, and I accept it as a public trust, to be held so long as I am true to the ethics of public service. I will constantly strive to achieve these objectives and ideals, dedicating myself before God to my chosen profession-law enforcement.”

Frederick County Sheriff's Office 2011-2012 Goals and Objectives

- Implement the Frederick County Sheriff's Office Forward Mobility Project to implement a secure VPN connection between the Sheriff's Office and mobile users. This will be accomplished through the purchase of a NetMotion Wireless Mobility XE software package and compatible server. This increased access will provide for more time in the patrol vehicle, and less time at the office. This will also allow for a safer environment for the Deputies due to their access to critical safety data while in their vehicle and in contact with the public. This software will also allow for necessary updates to be pushed through the NetMotion product without the user having to manually update in person with the Information Technologies Section.
- Continue with implementation of the Southeast Propane Autogas Development Program. As of May 2012, five of the expected ten cars have been outfitted with the dual fuel tanks. The propane fueling station was installed on the department grounds in 2011.
- To reduce teen driving accidents, DUI's, and traffic infractions through education by implementing the "Virginia Rules Program". The School Resource Officers and the Frederick County Traffic Unit will teach these classes to high school students.
- Work in conjunction with Frederick County Fire & Rescue, and the local student service learning program to create FADD, Frederick County Against Distracted Driving. A local organization aiming to promote the harms of distracted driving. FADD desires to bring awareness regarding the dangers of texting and driving to those in our community and beyond.
- Enhance law enforcement and community relations through deputies performing civic duties such as child fingerprinting, Sheriff's Kids Camp, the D.A.R.E. Program, Neighborhood Watch meetings, and updating the Frederick County Sheriff's Office website.

- Maintain the Virginia Law Enforcement Accreditation standards set forth for review in 2012. This demonstrates that the Sheriff's Office is adhering to a high standard set forth by the Virginia Law Enforcement Accreditation Coalition.
- Continuation of training on minority cultures and issues by training the deputies in cultural diversity. Deputies attend classes that instruct on other cultures and provide them with skills to better assistance minority citizens.
- Increase crime prevention activities in the community. The Sheriff's Office believes one way of reducing crime is through education. This education provides the public with information and suggestion on home, business, and Internet security; as well as personal safety. Local cable channel 16 list safety tips, current criminal activity or frauds, as well as wanted people.
- Reduce consumable budget costs within our department by using the electronic transfer of data and memos, and by turning off all electrical equipment and lights whenever possible.
- Reduce traffic related deaths in Frederick County by increasing traffic enforcement efforts on the highways of Frederick County.

New Technology

The following article was printed in the Northern Virginia Daily in 2010. The implementation of the propane fuel station was completed in 2011. The department currently has 5 of the expected 10 cars outfitted with the propane tanks.

Frederick County Sheriff's Office gets grant for equipment

WINCHESTER -- The Frederick County Sheriff's Office may soon start calling some of its cruisers "green machines."

County officials learned last week that the Sheriff's Office had won a $58,000 grant from the Southeast Propane Autogas Development Program. The money goes to install equipment in 10 vehicles that allows each to run on both gasoline and propane.

"I really do think it's a neat project," Sheriff Robert Williamson said Wednesday afternoon. "It's more efficient than gasoline, cheaper cost-wise than gasoline at present."

"I would like, eventually, to see the majority, if not all of our fleet dual-purpose vehicles so that when we're at least in the area where most of them stay, other than transports and training and stuff, that they could run propane fuel because it's less costly, it is more efficient and it's better for the environment," Williamson said. "And in these days and times, if we can get them done for free or at no cost to us, then certainly it's a benefit."

The program seeks to retrofit 221 vehicles in Virginia as part of a larger initiative spanning from Mississippi and Florida to Maryland, Turkel said. The sheriff's vehicles should be converted by the end of the year, according to Turkel. Williamson said the grant requires the conversion to take place by Dec. 31.

Conversion will displace 12 percent of the annual gasoline consumption, according to Turkel. The cost per mile is less for propane, he said.

Since propane is produced domestically, use of the fuel reduces dependence on foreign oil, Turkel and Williamson have said.

Williamson said he is somewhat familiar with the alternative fuel because his father operated a propane gas company for years and ran his vehicles on the fuel. Technology has changed, Williamson said. Propane also burns cleaner in an engine. Williamson said he has seen engines with 150,000 miles run on propane that appear new inside -- showing less deposits and wear.

"There are a lot of positives to it," the sheriff added. "There are some negatives to it: Lack of fueling stations is one of them ... taking up the space of the trunk is an issue for us."

"Those cars are basically those guys' offices," Williamson said. "We're gonna do it irregardless and we'll just have to adjust. It's like any other change."

The Sheriff's Office needs to install a propane-fueling station, according to Williamson, which he anticipates would be located in the secure area at the county's public safety building. The office once had a DARE vehicle that ran on natural gas, and he said he had a hard time finding mechanics to work on the car. The grant includes training for area mechanics provided they pay their own way to where sessions are held.

The grant requires completion of the conversion by Dec. 31, according to Williamson. Representatives with the program are expected to bring a vehicle to the Sheriff's Office headquarters this week and demonstrate the conversion process, Williamson said.
